

ENGINEER
WAS KILLED*In Collision at Buffalo, N. Y.,
Today*TWO OTHERS WERE HURT*West Bound Wash Flyer Struck New York Central Switch Engine—Both Engines Badly Smashed and Track Not Yet Clear.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 16.—Early this morning the west bound Wash Flyer collided with a New York Central switch engine here. The engineer of the switch engine was killed and the engineer and fireman of the Wash Flyer were slightly hurt. Both engines were badly smashed and the tracks are not yet cleared.

SUFFOCATED IN SHIP.*Had Made a Desperate Effort to Escape.

Boston, May 16.—Suffocated by smoke from a fire of mysterious origin which broke out on the four-masted schooner Sagamore of Boston while at anchor off the New Haven docks at South Boston, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the second mate, Edward Clark, 39, of Cleveland, O., was found dead in the cabin where he had made a desperate attempt to escape. He was within three feet of the companionway, but so rapidly did the fire spread that he suffocated.

The fire was spectacular while it lasted and the burst of flame and smoke from the cabin sent a fleet of 10 tugboats and fireboats scurrying down the harbor at full speed. The vessel was in command of First Mate Samuel Nason of St. Louis, who said he was mystified as to the origin of the fire. It broke out in his cabin just forward of the main cabin in the stern of the ship and spread with such rapidity that Clark, who was asleep in his cabin, within three feet of the companionway leading to the deck, was unable to get out of his room before he was overcome. His body was found by Lieut. W. S. Eaton of engine company 44, who descended into the cabin when the fire was still raging, bent on bringing out the second mate, dead or alive.

"TRUSTY" WALKED OUT.*And Has Not Been Seen Since at Insane Hospital.

Bridgewater, Mass., May 16.—The third mysterious escape from the Bridgewater insane asylum in eight months occurred some time yesterday when William G. Carr, a "trustee" walked out through two doors, undetected by any attendant. It is thought the man must have had assistance from the outside, and that someone smuggled in a key to him.

Carr is about 33 years of age, and had been an inmate of the state institution since 1896, having come from the Worcester insane hospital, to which place he had been sentenced in January, 1895.

He was accused of having killed his sister at Worcester in 1894 in a drunken frenzy. He was subsequently declared to be insane by expert alienists, before he was brought to trial. In the last few days he had been considered almost cured and had been trying to secure his release. His efforts were not successful, however, and Monday night or early yesterday morning, he made his mysterious departure, leaving his cell of hospital clothes behind him and carefully locking the doors after himself.

He is described as being 5 feet 4 1/2 inches in height, and weighing 142 pounds. He has brown eyes and gray hair and mustache. A face with the initials "W. C." is tattooed on the left forearm in India ink.

STRENUOUS FIGHTING.*Kid Pants Defeated by Rudolph Un-holz.

Providence, R. I., May 16.—Rudolph Unholz, billed as the lightweight champion of South Africa, defeated Kid Pants, after 15 rounds of as strenuous fighting as has ever been seen in this city, at the Rhode Island A. C., at Thornton last night. Pants was substituted for Kid Goodman of Boston.

Unholz demonstrated that he is qualified to meet any boxer in this part of the country at or near his weight. After fighting the shifty and hard-hitting Pants at his own game for the first half-dozen rounds—a bout of slugging with one arm free—Unholz proved that he was a past master in the game where craft was required, and the way he smashed Pants when at close quarters was a sight to behold.

Pants' lightning foot work was the only thing that prolonged the battle after the sixth round, and his avoidance of the powerful rushes of the German during the remainder of the contest earned for him the plaudits of the crowd.

DELEGATE DIED SUDDENLY.*John Luskins of Worcester Was Attending Foresters' Convention.

Pittsfield, Mass., May 16.—John Luskins, aged 43 years, a delegate from Worcester to the state convention of Foresters which is being held here, died suddenly of heart failure, at the Kenney hotel, at two this morning. He is survived by a widow and children in Worcester.

Castleton Merchant Fails.

Rutland, May 16.—Edward J. Withers of Castleton, a merchant, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are $5,263.99 and his assets are $5,961 of which $585 is claimed exempt.

GRAND ENCAMPMENT
I. O. O. F. MET TODAY*All the Grand Officers Were Present—
Net Increase in Membership Last Year Was 68, With a Total of 1,728.

Burlington, May 16.—The 36th annual session of the grand encampment, I. O. O. F., was held today, with a large attendance. W. P. Horton of Rutland, grand patriarch, presiding. All the grand officers are here. The net increase in members is 68; 14 deaths, and a total of 1,728. The receipts are $4,017.99, expenditures, $1,496.28, value of property of encampment, $12,513.56. The officers will be elected at this afternoon's session. The grand lodge met this morning and adjourned until tomorrow.

The most brilliant of the social functions connected with the meetings took place this evening when the annual ball was held at the armory, with more than 100 couples in attendance.

The grand march was led by Col. E. A. Spear of Woodstock, president of the department council, Patriarchs Militant, and Mrs. Eva Hazen of Windsor. The four managers were L. C. Bunnham PGR, J. H. Macomber PG, J. H. Blakely PGR, F. B. Morton GR, O. E. Chilson GM, Calvin Edress GW, Maj. F. W. Jackson and Maj. H. R. Kimball. The dance committee included Col. E. A. Spear, Col. L. C. Grant, Col. H. E. Parker, Capt. R. A. Spear, S. A. Reed PGR, E. O. Mills PG, C. G. McGaffey PG, and E. J. Chambers PG.

TOOK PARIS GREEN.*George Whitcomb of Jefferson, N. H., Committed Suicide.

Jefferson, N. H., May 16.—George Whitcomb of this town, aged 56 years, died yesterday from Paris green poisoning. Several years ago Whitcomb parted from his wife and, when not working out, he lived alone at his home on Jefferson Meadows.

Monday evening his son, William, and some young friends were at the house visiting. The father retired early, but got up later and went to the barn. Returning, he went into the sink room, where he remained a few minutes and then retired for the night. A few minutes later he called for his son and told him that he would not be alive in the morning. The boy thought that the father was joking, but when he heard him vomiting a little later and large quantities of the green poison were discovered, a doctor was hastily summoned.

A stomach pump and every known antidote were used to save the man's life, but to no avail.

He is survived by a widow, who is working in a Wells River, Vt., hotel; two sons, John and William; three daughters, Mrs. Elvira Bush, Mrs. Eline Plasted and Mrs. C. H. Brown, and two brothers, Fred and Frank Whitcomb, all of this town.

Dependancy over his lonely and unhappy life is attributed as the cause of his act.

A GOVERNOR ASKS
FOR HIS PARDON*John F. McCarthy, Convicted Bank Robber, Will Be Given a Hearing
at Bellows Falls Tonight.

Brattleboro, May 16.—Gov. Charles J. Bell will hold a hearing in Bellows Falls tonight on the petition of John F. McCarthy, a convict from the state prison at Windsor, where he is serving a sentence of not less than six nor more than seven years for breaking into the Windham county savings bank in Newfane.

The petition is in charge of A. F. Schenk of this town, who will go to Bellows Falls with 15 or more persons interested in the matter. Chief Inspector Walls and Supt. George E. Leitch of the Pinkerton detective bureau of Boston have written that they will be present.

Mr. Schenk will present with the petition letters from Gov. Hayward of Virginia have pardoned from the state prison at Windsor, where he is serving a sentence of not less than six nor more than seven years for breaking into the Windham county savings bank in Newfane.

Mr. Schenk will present with the petition letters from Gov. Hayward of Virginia have pardoned from the state prison at Windsor, where he is serving a sentence of not less than six nor more than seven years for breaking into the Windham county savings bank in Newfane.

Mr. Schenk will present with the petition letters from Gov. Hayward of Virginia have pardoned from the state prison at Windsor, where he is serving a sentence of not less than six nor more than seven years for breaking into the Windham county savings bank in Newfane.

Mr. Schenk will present with the petition letters from Gov. Hayward of Virginia have pardoned from the state prison at Windsor, where he is serving a sentence of not less than six nor more than seven years for breaking into the Windham county savings bank in Newfane.

Mr. Schenk will present with the petition letters from Gov. Hayward of Virginia have pardoned from the state prison at Windsor, where he is serving a sentence of not less than six nor more than seven years for breaking into the Windham county savings bank in Newfane.

Mr. Schenk will present with the petition letters from Gov. Hayward of Virginia have pardoned from the state prison at Windsor, where he is serving a sentence of not less than six nor more than seven years for breaking into the Windham county savings bank in Newfane.

Mr. Schenk will present with the petition letters from Gov. Hayward of Virginia have pardoned from the state prison at Windsor, where he is serving a sentence of not less than six nor more than seven years for breaking into the Windham county savings bank in Newfane.

ADMITTED
THE THEFT*Charles N. Miller Confesses to Stealing $1,975*FROM ADAMS EXPRESS CO.*He Was Agent at Union Depot in Springfield, Mass., and He Told
Story of Money Being Stolen
While He Was Away.

Springfield, Mass., May 16.—In court today Charles N. Miller admitted the theft of $1,975 from the Adams express company. After restoring the money he was placed on probation. Miller, at the time of the theft, was agent at the Union depot and claimed the money had been stolen from the safe while he was absent from the office.

DEMAND CHECK LIST.*Five Per Cent of Burlington Voters File Petition.

Burlington, May 16.—A petition to have check lists used at the caucuses to elect delegates to the conventions to nominate county and State officers and representatives to Congress and town representatives was filed yesterday in the city clerk's office. The petition is as follows:

"We, the undersigned, being qualified voters in freeman's meeting of the city of Burlington equal in number of five per cent of the vote cast for governor in said city at the last preceding biennial election, hereby request that in caucuses in said city to elect delegates to conventions to nominate state and county officers and representatives, the voting shall be by check list as provided by act, number two (2) of the laws of Vermont, 1904."

The filing of such a petition was expected and Clerk McMahon has secured the names of all those who have signed their intentions with the assessors and the lists will be made up as soon as possible.

WATERBURY ALSO.*Will Vote by the Check List in This Year's Caucuses.

Waterbury, May 16.—Under instructions from the first selectman, S. C. Wheeler, Attorney G. H. Dale circulated a petition among the voters last week, giving all a chance to express themselves on the new caucus law. The number of signatures was sufficient to warrant the instruction of the selectman to prepare a check list to be used at the caucus to elect delegates to the state, county, and district conventions. This list will also be used at the convention to nominate town representatives.

DEATH WAS PECULIAR.*Alice O. Atherton of Waterbury Was Guest in Waterbury.

Waterbury, May 16.—Alice O. Atherton, aged twelve years, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Titus of Hartford, died yesterday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Labell, where she was a guest. The girl was being treated for St. Vitus dance, but aside from this had been usually well. Dr. E. A. Stanley was called and as soon as he saw the patient sent for Dr. G. S. Bidwell, residing here as usual. In spite of every effort possible, the girl died before 2 o'clock.

The girl had been treated by a Hartford physician, and it is understood that the prescription contained a certain amount of arsenic. The medicine and the contents of the stomach have been sent to the state laboratory of hygiene at Burlington for examination and a post-mortem examination was conducted in the afternoon by Dr. E. A. Stanley, Dr. G. S. Bidwell, Dr. Henry James and Dr. W. L. Wasson.

There are many rumors afloat regarding the cause of the girl's death, but nothing definite can be learned until the result of the analysis at the state laboratory is reported.

TO DISSOLVE DOUMA.*Czar Is Requested But He Is Undecided.

St. Petersburg, May 16.—Strong reactionary influence is being brought to bear upon the Czar to dissolve the Douma for drawing up a reply to the speech from the throne in a manner which the bureaucrats consider grossly insulting to his majesty. Practically the unanimous advice of the bureaucrats to the Czar is that if the autonomy is to be preserved, the fight with the Douma must begin immediately. The Czar is undecided what to do.

JURY COULDN'T AGREE.*In Sensational Divorce Suit Brought by Wm. M. Lawson.

New York, May 16.—The sensational divorce case of Wm. M. Lawson, a young millionaire, against his wife, was ended this morning when the jury reported a disagreement after being out all night.

TO MEET IN BARRE.*Letter Carriers Will Be Here on May 30th.

Rutland, May 16.—The letter carriers have decided to hold their annual convention in Barre on May 30th. Rutland will send F. A. Hyland as a delegate.

Given a Silver Service.

Bellows Falls, May 16.—The members of the medical society called upon Dr. E. S. Albion in a body last evening and reminded him he had been married 25 years, and left him a token of their esteem a beautiful silver service.

WILL NOMINATE BURKE.*Declared Prominent Democrat Burlington Yesterday.

Burlington, May 16.—The Democratic state committee will probably meet in this city next week to fix the date of the state convention. A prominent Democrat, who was in this city yesterday, said that the probability was that the convention would be held on an early date and that a straight Democratic ticket would be nominated, notwithstanding the fact that an effort had been made to capture the party for a fusion.

The speaker said that indications at present were that the convention would come to Burlington and that Mayor James E. Burke would receive the nomination. He said that his candidacy was being received with favor and that Mayor Burke was not in favor of fusion or recognizing the Bennington idea in any way.

While the speaker did not predict a victory for the Democrats, he did predict an unusually large Democratic vote. He considered that conditions had changed since four years ago and that there was no issue this year to draw away the votes of the Democrats.

"If Clement should succeed in making a fusion with the Democrats, there would be hundreds who as between two Republicans, would vote for Proctor," he said in conclusion.

LITTLE COURT WORK.*Is Ahead of United States Court at Windsor.

Windsor, May 16.—The May term of the United States court opened yesterday afternoon at two o'clock. Judge Hoyt H. Wheeler presiding, with U. S. Marshal H. W. Bailey, Clerk George E. John and District Attorney J. L. Martin in attendance. The usual number of grand and petit jurors and a small number of lawyers were present.

"We, the undersigned, being qualified voters in freeman's meeting of the city of Burlington equal in number of five per cent of the vote cast for governor in said city at the last preceding biennial election, hereby request that in caucuses in said city to elect delegates to conventions to nominate state and county officers and representatives, the voting shall be by check list as provided by act, number two (2) of the laws of Vermont, 1904."

The filing of such a petition was expected and Clerk McMahon has secured the names of all those who have signed their intentions with the assessors and the lists will be made up as soon as possible.

FLESH CAME OFF WITH HER CLOTHING*Mrs. Fred McGowan of Burlington Was Burned to Death Yesterday—She Leaves Five Small Children.

Burlington, May 16.—Mrs. Fred McGowan was so horribly burned yesterday morning that what remained of her body when she was removed to the hospital was a mass of flesh and bone. Her clothing was so scorched and blistered and her hair was burned from her head. She was taken to the Mary Fletcher hospital, where she died last night.

Mrs. McGowan had scraped a small pile of rubbish together in the yard in front of her home at No. 45 South Champlain street and lighted it. In some way the wrapper which she wore came in contact with the flames. When she noticed the blaze she made an effort to extinguish it but failing to succeed started to run. This caused a draught and in almost no time she was surrounded by a mass of flames.

Her cries attracted help but she broke away and before she could be caught again her clothes had been almost burned from her body. Blankets were wrapped about her and the blaze was extinguished. Dr. C. F. Pease was called and as soon as the ambulance could be secured the injured woman was taken to the hospital. Although Mrs. McGowan revived somewhat after the accident, she grew worse in the afternoon, and died shortly after eight o'clock.

Mrs. McGowan was 23 years of age and the mother of five small children. Her husband has been working in Middlebury and was there yesterday when the accident occurred. He returned to Burlington in the afternoon.

The funeral will be held from St. Joseph's church Thursday morning.

ACCEPT CARNEGIE'S GIFT.*Bellows Falls Accepts "Blood Money" for Library.

Bellows Falls, May 16.—After two years of fighting, during which the changes from "blood money" to poverty of the town have been rung, the Carnegie free library offer to the town has at last been accepted.

At a special town meeting held yesterday morning it was voted to appropriate $3,000 toward a site and accept Mr. Carnegie's gift of $15,000. Over $2,000 additional has been raised by subscription and the building will be erected on Henry street, in the center of the town. The building committee consisted of M. H. Ray, C. W. Cogswell, and E. Walker.

Five hundred dollars was voted to rebuild the Rockingham church, one of the oldest landmarks in the state, and the Robert & Hooper box plant was exempted from taxation for three years.

OPPOSED TO GIFT.*Smith College Professor Resigns for Scruples.

Northampton, Mass., May 16.—Miss Mary F. Byrd, professor of astronomy at Smith college and head of the observatory 19 years, has resigned because of conscientious scruples regarding the acceptance of gifts of money from John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie. In her letter of resignation to the trustees of the college she declared that she did not want to continue her connection with an institution that received tainted money.

Miss Byrd has been a firm anti-imperialist and a prominent member of an anti-imperialist club of this city since the Cuban and Philippine wars. She is a graduate of the university of Michigan and before coming to Smith college was the astronomer at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn. She is a woman of about 50.

AUTHORIZED
PURCHASE*Of Stone Crusher After Sharp
Debate in City Council*CROOKEDNESS DENIED*Four Aldermen Stood for Immediate Passage of Resolution Calling for Expenditure of $1,800, and Marsh Talk Resulted.

It started out to be a quiet, uneventful meeting, but it gathered momentum as it progressed until, at the crest of the movement, billows of words surged back and forth. There was even a hint of crooked deals and graft, but this hint was promptly squelched. The difference in the city council arose over the purchase of a stone crusher with which to prepare dressing for permanent streets. The street committee introduced a resolution authorizing the purchase of a stone crusher at a cost not to exceed $1,800, and the resolution, let it be known at the start, was finally adopted.

But the preliminary steps toward the adoption of the resolution were attended with much wariness. Six of the seven councilmen wanted a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "springing a thing without warning." This letter gave Alderman Milne the opportunity to inveigh against the purchase of a crusher. Alderman Milne alone standing out against the purchase. Alderman Milne made a valiant fight. But that wasn't the occasion for the greater part of the excitement. It was what Alderman Thurston called "